

Kentucky, Villanova To Battle In First Great Lakes Bowl

Blue And White To End Season At Cleveland

By O. C. Halyard
Kernel Sports Editor

That football ladder climbing the Kentucky Wildcats have been doing for the past two years has already raised them high enough so they can reach out and dig deep into the collars of post-season play. Kentucky has accepted a bid to play in the annual Great Lakes Bowl game to be played on December 6 in Cleveland, Ohio.

The Wildcats' opponents will be Villanova. Several long time football schools expressed desires to participate in the game, but Kentucky received an earlier bid and accepted. It will be the inaugural event for the Great Lakes Bowl, but the Cleveland stadium's seating capacity of 85,000 already makes it second in size for post-season events to the Rose Bowl. Of these, 60,000 seats, are under a roof in case of bad weather.

6,000 Ky. Tickets

A block of 6,000 tickets—all under the shelter—have been allocated for Kentucky fans. Price range on tickets run from $4.80 for box seats to $1.20 for general admission. Reserved seats will sell for $2.40 and $3.60. Tickets will be available at the UK ticket office in about a week.

Each team has three remaining titles of regular season play before they tie into each other in the Great Lakes Bowl classic. The Villanova Wildcats have an open date this week, then games with Marquette, Georgetown, and San Francisco.

Kentucky must meet hard charging West Virginia this Saturday, and then Evansville before wrestling with their arch rivals, Tennessee. The Kentuckians will have two weeks between their closing game and the bowl bout, while Villanova will have only one week.

Team Records

And while both teams have two losses inscribed against their records, the losses have been to first rank teams. Kentucky dropping its two to Ole Miss and Alabama, both present Southern Conference pacers. Villanova's two setbacks

Winners of the amateur tests will give a show at intermission at the Sadie Hawkins dance tomorrow night.

Mack Hughes, local photographer, will award $10.00 in pictures to the best dressed couple, and $10.00 each to the two who are dressed most like Tenderleaf Erickson and Stupifying Jones. Members of Keys will judge all entrants.

The Alpha Gams are planning a short parade through Lexington with some of the participants and others this afternoon.

Ford Representative To Be On Campus

Wilson A. Jones will be on the campus Nov. 24 and 25, to interview interested seniors for the Ford field training program.

There have been two revisions in the program this year. The age range has been increased to 26 years, and the wages to $250 per month for bachelor's degree and $275 for master's degrees.

Students interested should report to the personnel office, room 9, Administration building to fill out applications and make appointments with Mr. Jones.

Pi Tau Sigma Pledges First UK Woman

Marjorie Sulzer became the second woman ever pledged by Pi Tau Sigma, national mechanical engineering honorary with 5,000 members, when she was tapped last week by Pi Lambda chapter. She is the first University student to be honored.

The only woman in the mechanical engineering department at present, Miss Sulzer will be the third woman ever to be graduated from the engineering college with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

Miss Sulzer, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Elmer Sulzer of Lexington, is a student instructor, a member of the staff of the Kentucky Engineer, and will be graduated in June.

Initiation ceremonies and a banquet honoring initiates will be held next Friday at the Lafayette hotel.

Two Veterans Make Solos

The first solo flights to be made by students of the University flight training program were made Tuesday afternoon at Blue Grass field by Horace H. Maxey and George D. Wallace. The planes took off at 3 o'clock and stayed in the air 25 minutes.

Both flights went along smoothly, according to J. E. Piersall, chief instructor for Bohner flying service at Blue Grass field. Mr. Piersall said that Maxey and Wallace "did not seem the least bit nervous" either before or after the flights.

The enrollees of the program, a new course offered by the College of Engineering, are primarily engineers who are interested in flying as an addition to their aeronautical work.

The trainees take one hour of ground school training and two hours actual flying each week.

After the training is completed, each student will receive six hours credit from the college and his pilot's license.

Mr. Piersall said that within the next week several more trainees will be ready to make their first solo flights.

UK Students Lose Fight For New Constitution

"Dark and Bloody Ground" was the name given to Kentucky in the days of the Indian Wars. When the political wars came along, the name was given a new significance.

In the little garage opposite the site of the new arts center building on Rose Street, a little political war was fought Tuesday. Some political science students were there as observers. The somewhat puzzled looks on their faces might possibly have been traced to one candidate's strategic switch from Home Town Ticket to City Ticket on election morning.

In the fight for a new constitution, Tri-Delta and others took two hour turns at the polls. From six in the morning until four in the afternoon on that raw November day, students fought for their school as hard as any football player ever fought on the gridiron. They lost that battle just as surely as the Wildcats were overwhelmed by the Crimson Tide last Saturday, but

UK Graduate Finds Sleep Helps Memory

Sleep was proven to be one of the best aids to memory by an experiment conducted by Mrs. W. W. Harned, a University graduate student in psychology.

She discovered that sleep after learning entirely eliminates immediate forgetting. The highly technical data was obtained as a result of an experiment conducted by Mrs. Harned, under the direction of psychology department staff members, with 80 Asbury college freshmen.

Sharp Forgetting Caused

"Learning followed by routine activities causes a sharp forgetting in the first four hours and a gradual loss in the amount remembered after that," according to Mrs. Harned.

"On the other hand, learning followed by four hours of sleep, instead of equal time spent awake, produces an equally sharp increase in the amount of learned material that is remembered."

The chances are 99.6 out of 100 that the subjects who have slept will remember more than those who did not sleep. "It is supposed that the old material in the mind is wiped out by new activities when sleep does not follow learning," Mrs. Harned said.

Reading Exams To Be Monday

Boys Are Coy

Quite a few amusing incidents developed under this reverse situation of girl dating boy—a new played hard to get—when Bud Lusby was asked for a date he coyly replied, "I'll think it over and let you know tomorrow."

This one might make Ripley's column—one male told a luscious looking brunette that he was sorry he had to turn her down. Don Clark, before committing himself, wanted to know who was to bring the "baby." "I can't understand it," Charley Byreley said Monday night, "the first day of Sadie Hawkins is over and I haven't even been approached."

Proposal Expected

"I expect a proposal by the end of the week," was Bill Hornback's statement. When Roger Pate's date arrived Monday night he was talking on the phone to another female, his mother—he said.

Engineering students have a decided advantage over the others, Russel Travis said, "because we can fight the girls off with our slide rules." Ted Howard says that preference will be shown to girls with cars.

Cat Cagers Finish 3rd Week Of Practice

By Kent Hollingsworth

Behind closed doors, the University of Kentucky Wildcat basketball team continued practice this week, under the close scrutiny of Coach Adolph Rupp.

Dale Barnstable, tallest guard on the squad, has been outstanding all week with his deadly accurate long shots, perfect ball handling, and all around aggressiveness. "Barney" is quick and fast as any member on the squad and is giving All-Americans Ralph Beard and Jack Parkinson a real fight for the first string guard position next to Capt. Kenny Rollins.

Jim Jordan, forward, has been missing considerable practice this week because of an attack of flu.

In the light scrimmage sessions this week, Cliff Barker and big Walter Hirsch looked good at the forward positions, Jim Line shot some accurate right handed shots, Joe Holland got most of the rebounds, and Jack Parkinson hit some shots from far out.

With two scrimmages each week,

SX's Down DX's, 19-12 In Intramural Finals

By Allen Terhune

It was the strong right arm of Bill Branch nailing pass receivers plus plenty of poundage in the forward wall that enabled the Sigma Chi to streak from behind and cop the intramural championship 19-12 from a determined Delta Chi squad Tuesday afternoon in the finals of the elimination tourney.

This makes the second consecutive year that Sigma Chi colors Coach Adolph Rupp plans to work extensively on defense next week and will stress offense the following week, to prepare the Wildcats for their first game December 5, with Tulsa. There is an open date on November 29 that hasn't been filled yet.

After practice Friday, tarpaulins will be spread on the gym floor, as the Renfro Valley gang, will use the gym for their show.

have been hoisted in victory after capturing the intramural trophy and while the feat came as no great surprise to the majority of fans, neither team was playing tiddly-winks on the field Tuesday.

Stokley was the main spring in the Delta Chi attack, and for individual performance he had no equal on the field as his passes were accurate, punts long, and runs shifty.

Delta Chi took the opening kickoff in Sigma Chi territory after a bad boot let the leather touch the ground at that point. Five plays later Stokley faked an end run and flipped a pass to Jones in the end zone. Stokley's pass to Jones for the extra point was incomplete and the score stood 6-0.

13-6 At Half
Sigma Chi retaliated minutes later as Branch tossed to pay dirt and made the extra point. Five plays later Stokley faked an end run and flipped a pass to Jones in the end zone. Stokley's pass to Jones for the extra point was incomplete and the score stood 6-0.

In the third quarter the Sigma Chi racked up their third and final six pointer of the afternoon on a 20-yard aerial handled by Branch and with 30 seconds remaining in the ball game the Delta Chi broke loose for a T.D. with the same combination as before. Stokley to Jones, and the final count was 19-12 in favor of Sigma Chi.

Rain dominated intramural play for the most part since the pairings had been made and the finals had to be postponed a day because the fields were too wet to try to play.

Other results of the elimination tournament found SX downing the Sig Eps 13-6, Phi Taus edging out the Men's Dorm 7-6, Delta zeroing the ATO's 7-0, and the Delta Chi outfit whipping the AGR's 13-0 all in the first round.

In the semi-finals Sigma Chi downed the Phi Taus 24-0 and after a hot and heavy scrap the Delta Chi nosed through with a 13-12 win over the Dels.

Bill McCubbin, Intramural director, expresses his thanks to the various students who volunteered to officiate the intramural games, and reminds all team managers that the volleyball tournament begins Monday night, November 10.

Alabama's Surging Tide Drowns Wildcats, 13-0

By Tom Diekin

With one giant swoop, the Red Elephants of Alabama thumped Kentucky, 13-0, last Saturday on Stoll Field, stopped the Wildcats' five-game winning streak, and eliminated them from a bid to the Sugar or the Orange Bowl come New Year's Day. The red-hot Crimson Tide, not content with that, also inflicted the first defeat Kentucky has suffered on its home field since Coach Bear Bryant has been boss of the Kentucky gridders.

The outstanding player on the field last Saturday was Hurlin' Har-Gilmer, who showed Kentucky why he is an All-American. "The Arm" passed, ran, tackled, blocked and intercepted UK aerials all afternoon to lead Alabama to their twenty-fourth win over the Wildcat team in 26 games. The Birmingham half-back scored the first touchdown and helped considerably in setting up the final tally.

Aiding Gilmer were his two lieutenants from Mississippi, Lowell Tew and Bill Cadenhead. The 191-pound fullback, Tew, who has been a thorn in the Cat's side since 1944, ran 24 yards early in the game to place the ball on the one-yard stripe, where Gilmer then crashed over for the touchdown. QB Hugh Morrow tried a placement, but it went wide.

Second Touchdown

Sophomore, Cadenhead rammed over the second T.D. right after "Shorty" Jamerson, of UK, fumbled a long Gilmer punt on the Cats' 26 and Tackle Compton recovered for Bama. On the next play, Harry Gilmer flipped a pass to Cadenhead down to the UK 14. Tew went to the 10, but because of an outside penalty it was moved back to the 19. After two more running plays, Gilmer passed to End Rebel Steiner on the three and a first down. Harry bucked it to the one, and Cadenhead took it over on the next try. Morrow converted the extra point.

Gilmer, who completed four passes in the same number of attempts, Cadenhead and Tew were all greatly aided by the big, rough and tough line of the Tide eleven. This forward wall prevented the Kentucky team from advancing beyond the 19-yard line, thus holding the Lexington Lynx gridders scoreless for the first time this season. UK reached the 20 and the 24-yard stripes on other occasions, but the Crimson Tide dug in deeper and halted any further advances.

Phelps Ran Best
For the Blue and White, Dopey Phelps ripped off several nice runs, and finished with the best average of any back in the game. Phelps carried the ball nine times—just once in the second half—and picked up 63 yards for an average of seven yards per attempt. Tew, who had an average of 6.3, was second, with Cadenhead, and a 4.2 mark, finishing third.

Standouts for Kentucky on the defense were Linemen Jay Rhodemyre, Wash Serini, Leo Yarusis, Charley Bradshaw, and Chink Sengle, while in the backfield, Lee Truman, Jack Ferris, James Howe, and Bill Moseley turned in good performances.

The Elephants from Tuscaloosa had a third touchdown called back late in the second quarter, after Halfback "Monk" Moseley ran 40 yards through the entire UK team and into pay dirt. Then in the third period, the Tide's Hugh Morrow tried a field goal from the UK 13, but Bill Moseley blocked it to prevent three additional points.

In the final analysis, it was just a case of too much Gilmer, Tew, and Cadenhead plus the hard-hitting Crimson & White forward wall.

team scored early and often. Literally speaking, the Glamorcats couldn't get back on their feet.

Friday, still somewhat stunned and bruised, they engaged Eastern, and the two teams battled to a 3-3 deadlock. In a previous game played

He was draped out in a light tan custom made gabardine suit, single three button model; pale green shirt; dark green wool tie; matching accessories; natural colored cravat-tied gabardine topcoat; and a dark green hat (Pork Pie style) ... Another neat dresser was wearing a hat! (Better latch on to one) — So long for now.

Featuring Today —

Let's Have A Student Trip
To Great Lakes Bowl Dec. 6

After piddling around in football since 1891, Kentucky has finally cashed in on a post season contest. Kentucky followers have been talking bowl talk for years and hoping even when the outlook was all gloom.

Now the Wildcats are going to play in a bowl game, and all those loyal rooters have a chance to see the Big Blue playing after the regular season closes.

In addition to numerous townspeople who would like to see the game and will get there some way, there are a lot of UK students who would like to be on hand to cheer for their team. So let's organize a student trip.

Before the war, there used to be a UK student football trip nearly every year. And with the proper supervision—even if it took the campus cops—we should be able to swing a deal to go to Cleveland. Suky is the pep organization, and it takes students to pep it up, so Suky how about it?

And for this first post season appearance of the Wildcats, we certainly think the "Best Band In Dixie" should be on hand. We still have time to get things organized; let's all start pushing.

The Kentucky-Tennessee B-team game scheduled for today on Stoll Field was cancelled by the University of Tennessee. The Vols listed as their reason, "Not enough man power available." Maybe their B-team has taken over the varsity role.

Kentucky-West Virginia Feud There; Both Trying To Regain Win Column

By Dudley Saunders

Kentucky's Wildcats, anxious to regain their winning ways after faltering badly on two consecutive week-ends, tangle with West Virginia's Mountaineers tomorrow afternoon at Morgantown before what officials hope will be the first capacity crowd in the history of the 33,000 seat stadium.

In the Associated Press weekly poll the Cats dropped completely out of the list of the nation's twenty top teams. During three previous weeks they had jumped from twentieth to thirteenth place in the nation-wide poll.

During the past week's drills, however, it was obvious that the Wildcats of Kentucky were through stumbling and back on the victory trail where they belonged. The Cats left yesterday for Morgantown with team spirit reaching its highest peak in recent weeks.

Won Four, Lost Two

In six games this year the twice-beaten Mountaineers have compiled 194 points against 55 for their opponents—more than twice as many as the Wildcats have scored in seven games. The hill boys rolled up lopsided scores against New York University, 40-0, Otterbein, 59-0, Washington and Lee, 21-0, and Wayneburg, 60-7, before losing to undefeated Penn State and Maryland on consecutive Saturdays.

Powerful Penn State had to come from behind to nip the Mountaineers 21-14, yet the Lions picked up 365 yards rushing compared to only 47 for West Virginia.

Last week the boys from the Coal State were favored against Maryland's highly-regarded Terrapins. But apparently the underdogs did not live up to their name, for they ran circles around the Mountaineers winning 27-0. However, observers reported that the West Virginians turned in their worst performance of the season, so it would seem wise not to hold that defeat against them. Maryland, by the way, was Paul Bryant's pre-Kentucky stomping ground.

From the few scattered reports received concerning Mountaineer strategy, it would seem that their chief forte is in taking advantage of the breaks and holding tenaciously whenever their goal is threatened. Penn State scored first downs almost at will, but the West Virginia team always stiffened when the chips were down and hurled the Lions right back on their heels.

Five Five-Year Men

West Virginia was the target for the statement recently that they were playing five men for their fifth season, four of whom regularly appear in the starting lineup. Morgantown officials did not deny the accusation and even replied that the five players were eligible by their standards. It has since been reported that four other West Virginia gridders may also be playing in their fifth season as Mountaineers. They are Ed Kulakowski, 210-pound left tackle and one of the mainstays of the Mountaineer forward wall, Gene Corum, 185-pound left guard, Leo Benjamin, 180-pound center, and Chet Spelock, 190-pound right end. The fifth man is reserve fullback Charley Schrader.

Maryland last week registered an informal complaint but played the game anyway, winning 27-0, so apparently Paul Bryant plans to follow that same line of attack. Earlier this week UK officials registered an informal complaint to the NAA, but stated they would play the game regardless.

West Virginia's backfield averages 180 pounds, about the same as Kentucky's, but their line is slightly smaller than the Wildcat forwards, averaging about 190 pounds. If Bryant starts his usual lineup against the Mountaineers tomorrow, the Wildcats may enjoy an all-around weight advantage for the first time this year.

All Opponent Team

At the close of the 1946 season the West Virginia squad named four Wildcats on their all-opponent team, three of whom—Don Phelps, Wash Serini, and Leo Yarusis—will probably be in the starting lineup again tomorrow afternoon. The fourth man honored, all-SEC end Wallace Jones, is still on the sidelines following an appendectomy two weeks ago.

In eight previous Kentucky-West Virginia encounters, the Wildcats have won five and lost three, and the Mounties. The series was inaugurated way back in 1905, but was quickly dropped after the Wildcats absorbed a 45-0 shellacking and it wasn't renewed until 1939, when the

STICK O' TYPE

By Martha Evans

Hear ye, hear ye, all freshmen in general and unhappy pledges in particular. There are lots of things to learn when you come to college, but one that nobody ever takes the trouble to teach you, and one that your education won't be complete without, is the Greek alphabet.

You say that's silly. Well, maybe so. Maybe, like me, you'll never be subservient enough to be a good pledge; then again, maybe you will. At any rate, it's nice to be able to tell at a glance what the cryptic emblems on people's windshields and notebooks mean. Not to know can get you in Dutch. Like the time I congratulated a loyal Beta Omicron on something the Grappa Grappa girls had done. He swelled up and got mad, and there, I'd gone and insulted the B.O.s. Boy, did that raise a stink.

Well, anyway, here's a painless way to master the Greek letters which I learned from my favorite Greek scholar. Read on if ye would be educated:

A — alpha
B — beta
Γ — gamma
Δ — delta
Ε — epsilon
Ζ — zeta
Η — eta
Θ — theta
Ι — iota
Κ — kappa
Λ — lambda
Μ — mu
Ν — nu
Ξ — xi

First, you've got five letters just like the English alphabet. Don't let the appearance of the gamma and delta bother you; some lazy scribe just didn't know that curves are easier to look at than angles. The scholars pronounce gamma to rhyme with "mamma," but we don't.

Then we have three that rhyme. Go on, say 'em. See if they don't.

Now here are five more just like the English alphabet. Don't let the absence of the "j" bother you—it's just a modified "i" that came along later.

This crazy thing came up through the floor at this point. You just gotta remember it separately.

Here are six in a row just like the English—only remember there isn't any "Q." Also, the "R" looks like a "P" and the "P" doesn't look like anything in particular.

Three more that rhyme. None of them look like anything you ever saw before, do they?

Last but not least, Omega was thrown in to make an even two dozen. Engineers and math majors will remember it as the symbol for the measure of resistance, so let's quit on it.

Now go ahead. Read 'em back to me without the script in five minutes. I did, and you're a lot smarter than I am.

30 Noe Readings Being Recorded In Radio Studios

Recordings of about 30 of Dr. J. T. C. (Cotton) Noe's readings of his own poems are being made in the University radio studios. Dr. Noe is poet laureate of Kentucky and professor emeritus in the College of Education.

The records will be put in the library office of the Bureau of Source Material in Higher Education. Dr. and Mrs. Noe were honored at a tea given by Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Delta Kappa honor societies Friday afternoon.

Seven Volumes Published
Dr. Noe first gained national recognition as a poet while here with his characterization of a tobacco farmer. He said that teaching was his profession and that poetry was just a hobby. He has published seven volumes of verse.

D. and Mrs. Noe are living in Berkeley Hills, Calif.

Wildcat Mascot Not Here As Announced At Alabama Game

The Wildcat is coming! The announcement at the half during the Alabama game was not quite true. The embarrassed ghost of old T.W.T. (wildcat mascot of twenty years ago) must have given the announcer the double whammy in a belated effort to spur the Wildcats to victory. At any rate, the whammy didn't work, and as yet there is no wildcat in captivity.

However, Mr. Frank Phipps of the State Fish and Game Department has promised to notify his men throughout Kentucky to be on the lookout for a wildcat. If any student can pick up a spare wildcat over the weekend, wrangle it down and bring it back alive!

came at the hands of the powerful Army squad, 13-0, and Boston College eeked out a mere 6-0 win.

On the other side of the ledger, the Wildcats from Pennsylvania have three credit marks and then one draw. They took their opener from King's Point 60-0, and then battled Holy Cross for a 13-6 win, and came out ahead 14-12 in an engagement with Detroit. The tie was a 7-7 affair with Miami, Fla.

Kentucky has five wins to offset its 13-0 setback last week at the hands of the Crimson Tide, and its early season, 14-7, jolt dishd out by the Rebels. They are impressive victories over Georgia, 25-0; Vanderbilt, 14-0; Cincinnati, 20-0; Xavier, 20-7, and a close 7-6 win over Michigan State.

Alert And Stubborn

This year Coach Jordan Oliver has turned out a typical Villanova team. While they are a small school of only 1,000 enrollment, they always produce a good team that is stubborn and tight on defense, and alert and tricky on offense.

Kentucky has been guaranteed $30,000 for their part in the show plus an undisclosed percentage. The event is being sponsored by the Knights of Columbus to raise funds for an athletic program for Greater Cleveland youngsters.

The contract was signed for Kentucky in Cleveland last Monday by Benic Shively, Athletic Director, and Roy Steinfort, Sports Publicity Director.

Bowl-Bound

Beat Bryant's Wildcats are bowl-bound! Announcement of the sign-up with the Cleveland Great Lakes bowl in which they will tangle with the Villanova Cats brought a sigh of relief and pleasure from all the campus considering possible bowl bids open to Kentucky's team this year.

At least a week will separate the kickoff and examinations, so some of the eager will still have time to bone up for exams after the jaunt to Cleveland. Most certainly there should be a fine representation of UK faculty members and students after the battle uphill which we have fought for a good team.

On behalf of the student body, the Kernel extends its sincere congratulations to the team and its guides for a job well done and a team of which the institution can be justly proud. We'll fight for the blue and white and bring home the victory!

Kernel Kracklins

They tell us that the Halloween masquerades produced a novel winner. One bright masculine soul appeared in an outfit appropriately named "The New Look." It won for the most ridiculous, naturally.

To those who have generously contributed to the University Community Chest drive we say: "Thanks."

The November Student Government Association election campaign will be in full swing next week. It's your governing body, so familiarize yourself with the issues and have a reason for every vote you cast.

Some of the old guard are still shaking their heads in silent amazement. They never thought they'd see the day when students would be begging for tickets to go to convocation!

Gals, your chances are slipping away again! Sadie Hawkins week is here with its social reversals, and will end tomorrow night. It's an old Kaintuck tradition.

The Spice Of Life

By Amy Price and Helen Dorr
Since this is Sadie Hawkins week, we have heard only one complaint from the girls. It seems that some of the men are taking the easy way out by going home for the weekend. Now is that fair?

Becky Perry didn't waste any time when the week started. Clell DeSpain accepted her ADP pin Monday afternoon. And at least one Zeta, Bugs Barlee, is reported to be taking full advantage of this chance for girls' choice.

The newest and most exclusive club on campus is the Monday Afternoon Club. The first meeting was held in a ditch on Rose Street last Monday afternoon. The main requirement for membership is the drinking of a Bremo-Seltzer every morning. Sadie Hawkins is one of the charter members—that's how exclusive it is.

Constant Twosomes: Emory Wood and Jack Chewing; Emory Flanders and Dick Mays; Roger Watts and Sara Beam.
We predict: (and we hope this one doesn't go the way of most of our predictions) that George Freas and Audrey Roman, who have been going steady for two months, will soon be pinned.

Fern Jacobs was expecting a big weekend last week. Her man from Louisville was supposed to come up but he didn't appear on the scene. There was a slight misunderstanding over the whole affair but it's all straightened out now.

Lost and Found: One hoopskirt at the Pi Kapp formal last weekend. Loser: Mary Annwealt.
Ray Porter and Libby Collins have been a twosome but they are having a hard time right now. There were a lot of sad people into but I lost the car keys.

One of the Jewell Hall girls had an embarrassing moment last Friday. She was all dressed to go to the ATO dinner dance (formal, of course) when her buzzer rang. Thinking it was her date she rushed down only to find that it was the boy she had a date with for Saturday's game. Maybe he believed in being on time for dates.

What was Bill Gintermuth thinking of when he dropped that tray out of the inside window at Gentry's Saturday night.

First Student: Let's cut class today.
Second student: Can't I need the sleep.

"I'll teach you to make love to my daughter!"
"I wish you would, sir: I'm not doing so well by myself."
Pinnings: Mary Helen Carter to Doc Savage.

More Twosomes: Jean Kesler and Bob Preston; Trudy Clarey and David Beam.

One of the main problems of the student body now is this—what to do to fill up the one to two hour wait after arriving at Stoll field and before the game starts. Some of us have solved the problem by playing bridge although it gets a little complicated at times. The other main amusement is watching the people come in.

Line of the week: (from a science major) Why don't you come up and see my slides some day?
Excuse of the week: I'm sorry I'm

Pen Friend Wanted
Editor, the Kernel:
I am a young Australian lad 18 years of age. I attend Sydney Technical College, where I am doing a Diploma course in Chemistry. I am keenly interested in America, and I was wondering if there was a student at your University who would like to write to me. You would do me a great favour if you would help me arrange such a pen-friendship.

Going To The Dogs
Editor, the Kernel:
In our opinion, all the dogs on the campus constitute a serious problem. Who feeds these dogs? Who cares for them? Where do these dogs come from? The editors of the Kernel should do something at once to remedy the situation. Is it their moral and spiritual duty as guardians of a free press.

Ad Sheet?
Editor, the Kernel:
An adequate coverage of meetings can be checked up in favor of the official weekly newspaper of the University of Kentucky, the Kentucky Kernel.

Close observation of the latest issue, Oct. 4, 1947, makes this fact quite evident. There are nine stories on the front page based on news of meetings on the campus, or of meetings which are in some way connected with the University. However, I do know of a very important meeting which occurred on the campus this fall, and no news of it appeared in the Kernel. This does not mean that the meeting was not covered. It was and a story was written on it, but the story never appeared in the Kernel for the simple reason that advertising now commands more space in this paper than news.

There are 22 announcements of meetings on the inside pages of the paper, but most of these pages are composed of advertising. Some of these meetings may not be important enough to rate follow-up stories. There will also be some meetings rating follow-up stories which will not appear in our paper, because there will not be room for them.

The meetings and doings of college students are much more important to them than a half-page advertisement telling them to smoke Chesterfields because Bing Crosby says so. The only conclusion to be drawn is that the Kernel has adequate coverage of meetings under the existing circumstances. These circumstances seem to be that the paper should pay for itself at the expense of leaving out news of important college activities.

A little girl got lost at the station, and her mother found her surrounded by a group of nuns. They promptly assured the mother that the child was all right. "In fact," she's having a wonderful time," one of the nuns confided. "She thinks we're penguins!"—Chaff.

Building new telephone lines for you takes well planned teamwork by these two »

Behind this giant plow train, burying a new transcontinental telephone cable, there's a story of typical teamwork by Western Electric in helping the Bell Telephone Companies to give you faster, even better service.

As the supply member of the Bell Telephone team, Western Electric is producing the coaxial cable which can carry 1800 telephone messages at once—can transmit television network programs, too. Complex machines—designed by Western Electric engineers—are turning out this cable mile after mile to keep the plow trains pushing forward on schedule.

Ever since 1882, Western Electric has been an integral part of Bell Telephone service—helping to make it the world's best at the lowest possible cost.
